THEY "LOST" HIM.

Handy Way Of Disposing Of Bothersome Negro

Posse Took Him Across A River And He Disappeared.

He Had Shown Up After Being Left For Dead.

SILVANIA, Ga., April 12.—Last Monday, a negro entered the house of David Cowart, near Portal, and went into his daughter's room. He was seen by Mrs. Cowart, whose screams brought Mr. Cowart. The negro got away, but was afterward arrested by Cowart and a party of other men, who told him to run or be lynched. The negro ran and two loads of buckshot were fired after him, some of the shot passing through his body. He was left supposedly dying, but at one o'clock yesterday afternoon he appeared at Rocky Ford and was arrested. Last night a party of men took the negro in charge. They went across the river with him and several shots were heard later. None of the posse returned, but it is reported that the negro was "lost."

BURIED BY AVALANCHE.

DENVER, April 12.—A huge mass of snow and rocks came down from the mountains today, near Adelaide, on the Florence and Cripple Creek railroad, and buried a work train, killing three of the crew and seriously injuring four others. The men were clearing up the debris of an earlier slide, when the avalanche descended on them. The superintendent was not struck.

TIGER ATTACKED HIM.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 12.—Bajah, the Bengal tiger that fatally injured one of the keepers in the Zoo here several months ago, after a desperate fight in the animal's cage, today attacked Frank C. Bostock, proprietor of the Zoo, and dangerously injured him. The attending physicians fear that Bostock will lose his left arm. His right leg and face are badly lacerated.

THE HARTFORD'S ITINERARY.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The training ship Hartford sailed from Hampton Roads today for Port Royal, S. C., where she is scheduled to leave on May first for a summer and fall cruise through Europe. Her itinerary includes Plymouth, Christiania, Copenhagen, Stockholm, Kiel, Lisbon, Funchal and St. Thomas.

NOT GOING TO VENEZUELA.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The navy department announced today that the North Atlantic squadron, now at Culebra island, is due to arrive at Hampton Roads on the 23d or 24th inst. This serves to set at rest the rumors to the effect that the squadron was to be sent to Venezuelan waters.

WILL ATTEND CONVENTION.

BOSTON, April 12.—It was announced tonight that Rear Admirals Watson and Higginson will attend the international jubilee convention of the Y. M. C. A. in this city, June 11th to 18th. It is proposed to emphasize the work that the association is doing in the army and navy.

MELVILLE COMING HERE.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Admiral Melville, chief engineer of the American navy, is to make a tour of inspection of the northern navy yards, beginning at Portsmouth, N. H., and including Boston, New York and Philadelphia.

COMPANY B INSPECTION.

Company B had a preliminary inspection at the armory on Court street, Friday evening. The members turned out in good numbers and Major Rollins of Dover, who conducted the inspection, spoke very kindly of the showing made. Afterward, there was a smoke talk.

ANNUAL RECEPTION.

Miss Moses' Dancing Pupils Enjoy Themselves Greatly.

Miss Julia F. Moses gave her annual reception to her dancing school on Friday evening, in Philbrick hall. The galleries were filled by the parents of the young pupils.

Miss Moses received at the lower end of the hall, her escort being Harold Snow of York. She was assisted by Miss Grace Rand and Miss Minnie Woods. The ushers at the reception were Reginald Horne and Harold Jenkins.

The march was led by Barbara Fianagan and Harry Dudley, who conducted the long line very adeptly. The orders were presented by little Gretchen Hett and Irma Young.

The boys and girls were very prettily garbed and the floor was a charming scene during the progress of the various dances.

The reception and children's dance continued from half past seven o'clock until ten, and then general dancing set in and continued until one o'clock in the morning. Joy and Philbrick's orchestra played, while the catering was looked after by Reich. Among those in attendance were a number of Miss Moses' friends from Dover.

Marion Hett, in behalf of all Miss Moses' pupils, presented to her a very handsome jewel clock, and she received from Gretchen Hett a magnificent bouquet.

It was a most delightful affair throughout, for everybody present, and it is a question whether the children who were the active participants derived more enjoyment from it than did the older people who looked down from the balconies upon the merry party.

BOULEVARD COMMISSIONERS HERE.

The members of the New Hampshire boulevard commission, Col. A. F. Howard of this city, Hon. Warren Brown of Hampton Falls and W. H. C. Pollansby of Exeter, accompanied by Hon. Joseph O. Hobbs of North Hampton and Judge Calvin Page, were on Friday morning driven over the proposed route of the boulevard,—the section lying between Wentworth house road and Rye beach.

ROBBERS NABBED.

They Gave Detectives A Desperate Fight.

All Of The Gang Taken Into Custody, However.

Many Burglaries Charged To Their Account In Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, April 12.—Thomas D. Kalom, a Mount Washington grocer, was shot and killed at his home tonight while fighting three burglars in defense of his wife, who was being chloroformed. A few hours later the rendezvous of the alleged felons was discovered and a force of detectives was sent to work on the case. In a desperate fight, City Detective Patrick E. Fitzgerald was shot and instantly killed and one of the gang of alleged burglars, who gave his name as Edward Rice and who fired the shot that killed Fitzgerald, was badly wounded. Two male and two female members of the gang were arrested and diamonds and other booty, altogether worth three or four thousand dollars, was taken. All the gang are now in custody and the officers believe they are responsible for the numerous burglaries which have occurred in this city and vicinity during the past month. The wounded robber was taken to the hospital. He may recover.

Second Act—Scene I—Professor Moriarty's Underground Office—Morning. Scene II—Sherlock Holmes' Apartments in Baker Street—Evening.

Third Act—The Stepmother's Gas Chamber—Midnight.

Fourth Act—Doctor Watson's Office—Kensington—The Following Evening.

To those who have known Sherlock Holmes through the medium of the clever stories by A. Conan Doyle, which centre around this great detective, it was certainly a privilege to see a living, breathing impersonation of the remarkable character on the stage. Those who met Sherlock Holmes, Friday evening, for the first time, will place him among their favorite heroes of romance. Mr. Cuyler Hastings showed us the famous Holmes just as we had pictured him in our minds, and if William Gillette, the noted actor-playwright, who created the character on the stage, can give us a more lifelike and entrancing presentation of the part, he has, unquestionably, no equal among American romantic actors. Mr. Hastings merged his own identity with that of Holmes in a manner which can only be characterized as the perfection of art. From the moment of his first appearance on the stage to the falling of the curtain at the close of the final act, Mr. Hastings held one of the largest audiences which ever greeted a theatrical attraction in this city spellbound, and the applause which he elicited was tumultuous.

Maude Fealy as Alice Faulkner, the heroine, was charming, and that the most matter-of-fact man in the world should lose his heart to her was not to be wondered at.

George Wessels in the character of Professor Moriarty, the "emperor of crime," was sufficiently unscrupulous, bloodthirsty and ingenious to bring to the front all the wonderful courage and fertility of resource of the invincible detective, while Frederick Truesdell gave us a true life impersonation of Holmes' faithful friend, Doctor Watson.

The other parts, including those of the fourteen minor villains, were entrusted to the care of clever men and women, who supported the principals in a manner beyond adverse criticism.

The play of Sherlock Holmes abounds in exciting incidents and thrilling scenes, there is a decided element of humor, also, a hint of the tragic, and interwoven with all the rest, one of the prettiest love stories imaginable. Taken all in all, no stronger drama has ever been presented in this city, nor one better calculated to evoke the enthusiasm of the spectators.

SIDE TRACKED.

After all is said and done, Side Tracked, the sensational comedy drama which will appear at Music Hall, Wednesday evening next, is one of the greatest laugh provokers now before the public, and well merits the unstinted praise bestowed upon it by both press and public wherever it is seen. It has no hairbrained plot, but is a comedy, bright and clean, with touches of pathos and a charming love story running through it. The company presenting it is an exceptionally good one, and the specialties introduced by different members of the company during the action of the piece add materially to the amusement of the auditors. The story has sufficient interest to appeal to all classes and the elite find much to entertain as well as the gallery to amuse. The play is interspersed with sparkling music, bright specialties, and mirth-provoking situations. There is not a dull moment from the rise of the curtain until its fall. If you want to enjoy a good, hearty laugh, one that will set on you like a tonic, just visit Music Hall next Wednesday evening and see a performance of Side Tracked.

OBITUARY
Mrs. Alice Howard.
 Mrs. Alice Howard, wife of Moses Howard of Greenland, died very suddenly at her home on Friday evening, aged about 36 years. She was found dead in her room by her husband. She was a woman held in much respect in her town and the death is particularly sad because of the fact that she leaves three children, beside a husband.

RELATED HIS EXPERIENCES.
 Rev. F. M. Chapin, a returned missionary from North China, addressed an audience of fair size in the North church on Friday evening, relating his experiences during the siege of the legations in Peking by the Boxers and imperial troops. The speaker also dwelt on the present conditions in China.

NORTH CHURCH-SUNDAY EVEN-ING.
 The sacred cantata "Easter Eve and Easter Morn," for solo, chorus and organ will be sung at the North church tomorrow evening by a double quartette.
 This music is repeated from the Easter service at the North church.

RITERY.
 The streets are now lively with bicyclists and the roads are getting into fairly good condition for the wheelman.
 Pursuer Eugene Wescott and fireman John McKinley of the P. K. & Y. ferry service have resigned their positions.
 Lemuel Schurman is taking Mr. McKin-ley's place and a new man has taken Mr. Wescott's position. Both will return to their homes to take positions this summer. They have made many friends among the passengers on the boats since coming here and will be missed.

Among the recent companies organized in Kittery are the following: Stafford & Russell Manufacturing company, to manufacture finger rings and jewelry: $80,000 capital stock, $250 paid in. President, Charles F. Irons, Providence; treasurer, Charles A. Russell, Providence. Certificate approved April 11.

The death of Miss Zha Lutz, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lutz, which had been expected for several days, occurred at her home at about quarter past four o'clock on Friday afternoon, after a sickness of less than three weeks from rheumatic fever and heart failure. Her age was 28 years.
 The death is one that has filled the community with deep sorrow. She was a young lady of pure life and sociable nature and her loss is a great one to the young womanhood is most sincerely regretted. She was a graduate of the Kittery high school and for a number of years has been employed in the stitching room of the Portsmouth shoe factory and was held in popular respect and esteem by her associates and the townspeople. She is survived by parents and five brothers, Charles, Walter, Arthur, Ralph and Edward Lutz. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the mourning ones. The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at the home.

LIONS BRED IN CAPTIVITY.
 They Develop Ferocity and Are as Healthy as Wild Ones.
 There is a current tradition that wild animals born in captivity do not attain the savagery of those bred in their native jungle and that the teeth of such animals do not develop as they do in the wild state. The superintendent of the zoo, whose experience with wild animals has been almost lifelong, says that he has not found these assertions to be true.
 However, he says, and apparently true, the cubs may appear, he says, there is a time when they attain savagery apparently from instinct and show all the characteristics of the animals whose home has always been the forest or the plain. As for the development of teeth the superintendent points for illustration to a young lion which was born and bred in captivity and has been seen several times gnawing bones of meat with which they are fed with evidence of possessing the most sound teeth possible.
 The only way in which wild animals in captivity usually suffer from their teeth is that when they are fed they may grab at the meat which is pushed through the bars with a big iron fork and break a tooth or the fork, or they may in jumping against the bars injury a tooth and suffer afterward from its loss.
 The little lions when baby cubs are shy at first, then become as playful as kittens. For the first year of their life usually they may be treated as domestic animals. At the age of about 12 weeks the cubs are taken from their mother, but in the meantime she has taught them to eat meat. At first the cubs suck a bone or a scrap of raw meat, which the mother tears off for them. When they are a few months old a bone which the mother lion holds in her jaws and paws.
 When first taken from their mother, the cubs are given finely chopped meat, the pieces being gradually made larger until they are given bones, upon which they sharpen and develop their teeth. In time the lions can crush the bones with ease. From 12 to 14 months of age the young lions are, it is said, so cross as to be almost unmanageable. At the age of 18 months or 2 years the cubs are taken in hand by the trainer, and then, having reached their growth, they are ready to be perfected in their tricks and to be exhibited.
 It is said by those familiar with lion taming and training that lions which have been brought up as pets are the hardest to train for performances. They do not seem to take the training seriously and are not so easily mastered as those which have grown to maturity without petting.—Baltimore Sun.

WALL STREET TERMS.
 Some Real Information by One Who Has Been There and Knows.
 Having been down in Wall street for several weeks and being obliged now to write for a living, I am prepared to give to all the result of my experience. I am one of those philanthropic souls who, when they have a real good thing, ache and burn to impart it to the world.
 One of the first things to learn in the street is the terms that are used. When you have mastered all the terms, you are then a "financier." We will therefore plunge at once into the heart of the subject. It is distressing enough to have lost your money, but not to be able to define your transactions in fitting language is extremely humiliating.
 Wall street is made up, first, of operators. An operator is a man whose business it is to make money out of other people or to lose money that other people make. When you begin to speculate, you immediately become an operator.
 Operators are divided into two classes, bulls and bears. When you first go into the street, you are a bull. After you have been there a little while you are a bear. Then you become a looker on.
 A looker on is any one who has seen better days.
 A margin is the money you put up when you first go into the street. Increasing your margin is what you do after you have bought any stock.
 "Going short" is selling out something you haven't got, with the idea that if you should ever have to get it you will lose what you have got.
 A "blind pool" is an organized band of robbers who usually get together on Sunday, having found out that you have been buying a certain stock and agree to keep on selling it until you haven't a cent left in the world. When you are one of the blind pool, beware, it is a solid array of the ablest financiers in the country.
 "Rigging" a stock up is what happens to it immediately after you have sold it out at a loss.
 A tip is something given to you by an insider as a guide. It is the evidence of things unseen, and it always turns out the opposite from what you expected.
 An insider is any one who has acquired a certain amount of ignorance about a particular stock.
 A "felt edge" security is anything which some other fellow has more than he wants of and wishes to sell to you.
 There are a great many more terms used in Wall street, but these are all I learned. At this point my collateral gave out. Collateral, by the way, is what you leave behind you when you leave the street.—Tom Masson in Life.

An Impromptu After Scene.
 One incident I must dwell upon, wrote Mme. Melba, because it was the most beautiful that has happened in my career.
 I was singing one snowy evening at the Academy of Music in Philadelphia. When I started to cross the pavement to my carriage after the performance, my arms were full of roses that had been sent to me during the opera. A white haired woman stepped forward and said: "God bless your beautiful heart. I have been waiting in the snow for you to come out. Your voice is the most beautiful in the world. Will you give me a rose to keep in memory of it?" During she stood, white haired, in the driving snow, poorly clad in black and with lines of grief and age etched on her face, waiting to tell me that I had made her happy. I gave her every flower I had. I kissed her on both cheeks, and we cried there together.—Saturday Evening Post.

 The importance of eggs in cookery can scarcely be overestimated. They increase the nutritive value of any dish to which they are added. Thus it happens that cakes and puddings and bread mixtures that contain eggs are, or should be, of greater nutritive value than are the plain breads and biscuits made without them.
 Eggs have a lightening effect and a thickening effect. Two eggs will perform the work of one tablespoonful of flour in thickening such things as sauces.
 As a substitute for meat, one egg is nowhere near equivalent to a pound of meat, and it is a great mistake to think it so. Nevertheless, eggs are a valuable food, easily prepared and a perfect food for breakfast. In fact, the housekeeper who is forced to leave eggs out of her breakfasting because the various members of the family dislike them is the victim of a hard lot. The egg is really the secret of a satisfying made easy.

The boiled egg, so called, shouldn't be looked at all, or else it should be boiled a long time until the yolk has passed the leather stage and has turned to a mealy softness. There are as many ways of cooking a boiled egg as there are ways of making coffee, and the exponent of each way insists just as strenuously upon its superiority. There is the cold water process, which consists of putting the egg in cold water and letting it heat gradually to the boiling point. This should take about ten minutes. The inside, white and yolk, is then of the consistency of curd.
 The common method is to put the egg into boiling water and let it cook steadily for three minutes if the egg is to be soft. This cooks the white to an indigestible stiffness and leaves the yolk soft. The proper method says that the egg must not be over the heat of the fire at all. It must be put into a saucepan of boiling water, covered down closely and the saucepan set on the table or at the back of the stove for just six minutes.
 This cooks the inside to a creaminess that cannot fail to please.

When eggs are to be poached in boiling water, a tablespoonful of vinegar added to the water will be found an aid. The water should be enough to almost fill a frying pan. Strain the vinegar through muslin and add it to the water. Add a little salt. When the water is boiling, remove the pan from the fire and slip the eggs upon the surface of the water.
 Leave the pan to the fire and cook gently three minutes. Altogether better, though, are eggs poached in milk, and necessarily then the vinegar must be omitted. After the eggs have been cooked and carefully lifted to their resting places on slices of toast the milk may be thickened with a little cornstarch, seasoned with salt, pepper and butter and poured over toast and eggs.

Another plan, everyday sort of way of preparing eggs, is the method of the omelet, a foundation upon which all manner of variations may be played. Cookbooks have much to say upon omelets, giving the number of eggs to be used anywhere from two or three to eight or ten. The perfect omelet consists of three eggs beaten until thick and foamy, salt, pepper and butter. It is far better to make several omelets to supply a number of persons than to attempt one large omelet. Sometimes the egg yolks are beaten first with two tablespoonfuls of cream, a little salt and pepper added, and the stiffly whipped whites of the eggs folded in just before cooking. The omelet pan should always be hot and oiled with butter when the omelet is turned in. As for the mixed omelets those that make use of meats, oysters or cheese have these ingredients scattered over the surface of the cooking egg just before it is folded. Oysters are particularly delicious, chopped, seasoned with salt, pepper and mustard, and covered before they are added to the omelet.
 Cheese is grated. Ham, tongue or chicken is minced, seasoned and added. Tomatoes are stewed down to a desirable thickness, well seasoned and spread over the surface of the omelet before it is folded. A mixture of a few chopped mushrooms and truffles, minced onions and parsley, moistened with cream and seasoned with salt and pepper, is a good addition to an omelet.

Hard boiled eggs serve as a basis for many concoctions. For instance, you may cut some hard boiled eggs into halves and mash the yolks. For half a dozen eggs add to the yolks one tablespoonful of finely minced cooked ham, a dash of paprika, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter and one tablespoonful of anchovy paste. Mix well together, then fill the whites of the eggs. Serve with a good French dressing and have both the eggs and the dressing cold. Hard boiled eggs in slices and put a layer of them at the bottom of a buttered baking dish. Sprinkle over them some grated cheese, then add more sliced egg and again more cheese.
 Finally pour over them a not too thick white sauce to which has been added a little mustard. Cover the top with seasoned crumbs and bake.

Sometimes hard boiled eggs are stuffed and made into croquettes. Cut six eggs in halves. Mash the yolks and mix them with two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, three or four tablespoonfuls of minced parsley, salt, cayenne and a little onion juice. When the mixture is quite smooth, fill the whites and fit the halves together, once more using a little white egg to make them adhere. Dip these eggs into bread crumbs, then into beaten egg, then into crumbs once more. Fry them in deep fat, using the frying basket.

Scrape the soft inside portion from six small French rolls, leaving the crust cup shape. Spread some melted butter about the hollow interiors and place these shells or cups in the oven until hot. Slightly beat as many eggs as there are rolls. Add one-half cup of cream or rich milk, two tablespoonfuls of grated cheese and very little salt, paprika and mustard. Fill the hot shells with this mixture and cook in the oven until the eggs are firm.—New York Sun.

The Cuban Convention.
 Havana, April 12.—At the secret session of the Cuban constitutional convention yesterday several delegates offered motions that the convention should express its disapproval of the principles embodied in the Platt amendment, especially clauses 1, 3, 5, 6 and 7. Senator Guterria moved that the subject be indefinitely postponed, but this proposal was supported by only six delegates. The effort of the radical element is to put the convention of record against the amendment before voting to send a commission to Washington. It was evident that the radicals had a majority.

Hunt Abolishes Martial Law.
 Boise, Idaho, April 12.—Governor Hunt has issued a proclamation abolishing martial law in Shoshone county. He recites the circumstances under which martial law was proclaimed there and sets forth that he has recently made a personal investigation and found the county prosperous and peaceful. Martial law was proclaimed May 4, 1890, following the riots of April 29. For a long time it has existed in form only, the administration of affairs being in the hands of the county authorities.

 leading Arend by 20 lengths. In the tandem race, 600 meters, Major Taylor and Arend were the winners.

A PHONOGRAPHIC SURPRISE.
 The Pretty French Doll Spoke Terrible German.

"At the time Edison was perfecting the original phonograph and the whole country was a scene at the invention," said an old reporter who happened to be in a story telling mood a few nights ago, "I was sent to his laboratory at Menlo Park by the city editor of a New York paper, with instructions to get a good story about the wonderful talking machine. I found three or four other newspaper men on the ground, and Mr. Edison promised us all that he would give us an interesting demonstration of the apparatus that afternoon.

"At the appointed hour we were on hand in his private office, and as a sort of preliminary entertainment the great inventor said he would give us an illustration of how the phonographic principle could be applied to children's toys. The old fashioned 'talking doll,' he went on, could squeak 'papa' and 'mamma' by means of a very elaborate arrangement of bellows and reeds, but it was now possible to produce a doll with much simple and cheaper mechanism that could recite poetry, say its prayers or sing some of several verses. He dwelt at some length on the immense sale of such toys and pointed out how that field alone would prove a source of enormous revenue.

"While he was talking an assistant brought in a beautiful French doll about two feet high that had been fitted up with the necessary apparatus. It was a perfect copy of a coquettish little Parisian, with curly chestnut hair, a saucy tip-tled nose and a mouth like a cleft cherry. We all fell in love with her on the spot. The assistant stood the fascinating doll on the table and, for a sprightly, convulsed something in the back. 'Now, gentlemen,' he said, 'we'll see what this little lady can do in the way of recitation.' With that he pressed the button, and these words issued from the rosy lips in a deep, guttural, German bass:
 "Tinkle, tinkle, little star, How I wonder what you are!"

"The newspaper gang howled with laughter, and the assistant switched off the mechanism in a cold fury. 'Who made this doll cylinder?' he bellowed into the next room. 'Mr. Schmidt,' somebody replied. 'Schmidt was the German foreman of the experimental department, and, being a member of the Lieber-kranz and very proud of his voice, he had insisted on preparing the phono-graphic record himself. The only man who was unmoved throughout the incident was Mr. Edison, who, as you know, is very deaf and consequently missed the point of the joke. The remainder of the doll exhibition was indefinitely deferred.'

Tricks of the Memory.
 "Celebrated authors sometimes forget their own works," said an eminent physician the other day. "This is usually one of the effects of disease or old age. As Walter Scott grew old he became a victim to this kind of forgetfulness. Precisely when one of his own poems was found to him he would ask who was the author. 'I cannot be mistaken during a painful illness and published before its author had quit his bed. When Scott had become convalescent he had no recollection of the story. Toward the close of his life Laune found great pleasure in reading his own works. Forgetful that he was himself the author, he would frequently exclaim as he read: 'Beautiful!
 Magnificent!' 'I wish I had written that!'"

"Macaulay, the historian, had a friend whose memory had once been exceedingly strong. Old age made it exceedingly weak. If anything brilliant was said or read to him in the evening, he would imagine next morning that the brilliant ideas heard the night before were his own. It was his custom to write them out and show them to his friends as original matter."

WAGERS OF OTHER DAYS.
 Odd Stakes Were at Risk on Elections Held in the Past.
 Betting on elections was as prevalent in the early days of the republic as it is at present. It is recorded that in a campaign between Federalists and Democrats a dash of the war was waged on the result by two prominent men of Philadelphia. The terms were that the al-was to be drunk at the Blue Anchor tavern in Dock street, then a widely patronized inn. A fortnight after the election was held, though returns had come in to show the result, and the bet was paid. There was a good, old fashioned jamboree at the ale drinking, and before the night was ended the whole party was in the hands of the night watch. The newspapers of the day got hold of the story and printed it, but after the fashion of those days no names were given, and also after the fashion of the day the little affair was referred to as "a brawl and affray" when in these days it would be called a case of "drunk and disorderly."

About 20 years ago Jay Gould put up a steamboat as a stake on an election.
 Whether the other party to the wager put up another steamboat or an equivalent in cash, real estate or railroad stocks and bonds is not recorded, but at any rate Mr. Gould won. Later he sold the steamboat he had wagered to an actor, who converted it into an excursion boat and got rich.
 When George Francis Train, the eccentric, lived in Omaha some years ago, at the time when he was prominent in the building of the Union Pacific railroad, it came to pass that an election was scheduled. Mr. Train thought he knew how the election was going and to prove his courage made a wager that if his man was defeated he would wear a duck suit all the year round. Mr. Train's guess was Mr. George W. Lord, of 41 Congress attacks of lame back and pain in the last was caused from simply moving a small stand as I was returning home the night. I felt it all through me, causing a sort of nausea, a disagreeable exposition in the head, tenderness over the loins, backache and trouble with the kidney secretions. At first the pain was acute, then it settled down to a dull grinding ache. I happened to read something about Doan's Kidney Pills.

 The recommendations were so positive and the representations were so convincing I concluded to try them and went to Phillips' pharmacy and got a box. I only took a few doses before they rethe aching lameness and other troublesomeness."

SAURDAY, APRIL 13, 1901.

The South African seaway needs filling.

Jeffries, too, has met his match and it is an important ring engagement for him.

The face of contemporary Chinese history seems to be suffering from an attack of St. Vitus' dance.

This new weather is very agreeable, in spite of the fact that people are rather blinded by the unusual light.

Joe Howard, the man who jabbed Creelman for using the personal pronoun so many times, in his regular Sunday letter used the big "I" thirty-four times, the word "my" seven times, "me" four times and "myself" twice. And this is the man who touched up Creelman for doing a similar thing. Portsmouth Chronicle.

Howard arrogates to himself a monopoly of the personal pronoun as a writer. An article from the pen of the veteran correspondent that was undistinguished by a liberal use of the "I" would be something in the way of a decided novelty.—Brooklyn Times.

One important feature of the new North Carolina libel law is as follows: "That any person who states, delivers or transmits by any means whatever to the manager, editor, publisher or reporter of any newspaper or periodical, for publication therein, any false and libelous statement concerning any person or corporation, and thereby secures the publication of the same, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor." But this law does not prevent the punishment of an editor who does not make an investigation as to the truth of such statement, and it ought not to, of course.

Under the new Maine law it is a serious crime to wound or kill any person through carelessness or ignorance in hunting. The new statute provides that "whoever, while on a hunting trip, or in pursuit of wild game or wild birds, negligently or carelessly shoots and wounds or kills any human being shall be punished by imprisonment not exceeding ten years, or by fine not exceeding $1,000." The long list of human game last season was evidence that a law of this kind was needed and it seems to have the approval of good sportsmen and certainly does of people of common sense.

It appears from a circular which has just been issued by a committee of colored citizens of New Orleans that there are two classes of negroes in that city, a very sensible class which issued the circular and a worthless collection of trash to which it was directed. The circular is as follows:

Fight the dives and dens and begin the fight for the negro's moral elevation around the negro's own hearthstone. Help the authorities to sustain and enforce the laws of the city and aid in the detection of crime and the punishment of criminals.

Respect the law and the officers of the law, and quit shielding negroes who are guilty of criminal offenses.

THE GIRL FROM MAXIM'S.

The new and lively French farce, The Girl from Maxim's, which one New York critic described as the "most fascinating thing that ever came down the theatrical pike," will be presented for the first time at Music hall next Tuesday evening, 16th inst.

This play comes direct from Boston and is the one that ran at the Criterion theatre for 150 nights in New York, to crowded houses. It is one of the funniest farces that has ever been sent from Paris, and it is dashing and interpreted by the excellent company that has it in hand. At the head of this company are Miss Hattie Williams and Mr. Thomas Burns, the former playing the title role and the latter having a part that exactly fits the quaint crisp humor of this clever farceur. The production will be exactly the same as that lately seen at the Park theatre in Boston.

The Girl from Maxim's tells how a reputable physician, who has been loyal to his home fireside all his life, takes a night off at last and tries to be a sport.

HATTIE WILLIAMS.

He goes out with the boys and during the evening lands in Maxim's cafe, a famous Paris place and music hall, much frequented by Americans. While there he drinks too much champagne, and the next thing he knows he awakens in his own home the next morning asleep under an overturned sofa. Friends who drop in to see how he is getting along hear a woman's voice from behind the curtain, and an investigation discloses that a young woman is there. She explains, however, that she is from Maxim's, and that she accompanied the physician home the night before. The physician's wife carries off the girl's dress under the impression that it is a present for her, and the physician's uncle mistakes her for his nephew's wife and invites her to spend some time at his villa. She accepts the invitation and by teaching the sedate ladies she meets to kick high and to sing merry songs, telling them that she is introducing them to the latest fads in Paris's best society, she lays the foundation for a lot of trouble for all hands except herself. The physician is kept in hot water between his real wife and the pseudo article, and there are lively and exciting times until the complications are straightened out and the original equanimity of the characters is restored.

WITH THE THEATRICAL FOLK

Olga Nethersole, who recently underwent an operation in London, is reported to be recovering rapidly.

Joseph Weaver has been engaged by Richard Mansfield to play an important role in the production of Monsieur Beaucaire next season.

It is said that E. M. Holland will be seen next season in the title-role of a dramatization of Eben Holden.

Nelson and Thompson black-face comedians, are singing Keep Off My Living with success.

The twelve months ending in July will show a record of 150 concerts given by Sousa and his band in 175 cities of Europe and America. It is said that Sousa will try the power of his music upon the Cubans and Mexicans before the end of the present year.

A great, rattling comedy drama, Side Tracked, will again be the attraction at Music Hall next Wednesday evening. The piece is one of the best attractions of its class now before the public, and is proving a big winner wherever presented.

seated. It is bright, catch and always on the move, and has a vim and go about that never fails to please.

The Girl from Maxim's the latest French farce will be presented here at Music Hall next Tuesday evening is described as being the most successful comedy ever presented in this country.

Mr. Lynch is now close to Mr. Leary for second place and the two men behind him are getting up closer, with bigger figures.

SPORTING NOTES

Foster's showing in the Harvard game on Thursday was very pleasing to his home friends.

The Philadelphia American league team defeated Yale in an eleven inning game, 4 to 3, Thursday.

It is now said that the Shamrock I will not come over this season, but that her rig will be fitted onto the new boat.

Major Taylor, the American colored cyclist, easily defeated the German cracks, in the races at Berlin on Thursday.

Harry Caldwell, a former Portsmouth favorite, is following Farringtons and Berwin at New Bedford in preparation for his race with Nat Butler, April 19.

The Boston American league defeated the University of Virginia nine, 23 to 0, Thursday. The Boston Nationals barely won from the Newport News team, 3 to 2.

Jim Jeffries is said to be engaged to the daughter of an Aetbury Park capitalist, and the wedding will take place as soon as his season in The Man From the West has closed.

William A. Brady is to return to cycling this year, and has leased the Manhattan Beach track from Austin Corbin, Jr., for this season. Mr. Brady will offer a $2000 purse for a paced race May 30th.

A racing meeting will be held at the Concord, N. H., State Fair grounds July 10, 17, 18 and 19, for purses aggregating $4000 in value. The classes are: Pacing, 2:10, 2:14, 2:18, 2:21, 2:24, 2:28; trotting, 2:16, 2:21, 2:25 and 2:29. The purse in each race will be $400, and the terms of entrance are five per cent to enter, name and start; payments of five dollars, seven dollars and eight dollars due May 18th, June 10th, and July 1st. N. A. Dantles is treasurer, and H. C. Pearson secretary for the meeting.

The dates agreed upon by the representatives of the several mile tracks for the coming season are as follows:

Mystic park, June 17 21; Old Saugus, June 25 28, Readville, July 2-5; Dover, July 9 12; Old Orchard, July 16 19; Mystic park, July 23 26; Old Saugus, July 30 - Aug. 3; Dover, Aug. 6 9; Old Orchard, Aug. 13 16; Readville, Aug. 19 24; Providence, Aug. 26 31; Old Saugus, Sept. 2-6; Mystic park, Sept. 10-13; Readville, Sept. 10-20; Dover, Sept. 23 27. No dates in October were taken, but there will be no break in the circuit until Nov. 1. Although not claiming the date, Dover will probably open the circuit with a meeting the second week in June. If this is done there will be 20 weeks of racing over good mile tracks, with the longest skips only a little more than 100 miles. The August meetings at Readville and Providence are in the grand circuit. For the September meeting in Dover a number of spring closing stakes will be given.

PORTSMOUTH, April 13, 1901.

Editors Herald:—Here are 42 votes for a gentleman, Dennis Lynch. I hope it will please box 58. He is well up in the race I notice.

FIREMAN.

Editor Portsmouth Herald:—Enclosed please find nineteen more votes for Col. Tibbetts from a York friend who wishes him success.

The conditions of the contest are as follows, a most liberal offer:

The Portsmouth Herald agrees to send three residents of Portsmouth, who are either members of the Portsmouth fire department, a social club or of some secret society, to the Pan-American exposition, pay all their expenses from the time they leave, until they return, including a week in Buffalo, with board and lodging and admission to the exposition daily.

This offer beats anything ever announced by any newspaper in New England, and is so far above the expense and interest of a trip to the national inauguration that it cannot be mentioned in the same class.

The contest will not be restricted to gentlemen but will be open to any lady who is a member of the various secret societies or auxiliary societies in Portsmouth.

The trip will include stop over privileges en route and returning and first class accommodations will be provided. In order that every detail of the grand tour may be properly looked after, the publishers will either send an agent in advance or with the party to make arrangements.

Everybody knows that the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo is to be grander and greater in every way than the World's fair and the visit will be the event of a lifetime.

REMARKABLE SUCCESS

Of a New Catarrh Cure.

A large and constantly increasing majority of the American people are catarrh sufferers. This is not entirely the result of our changeable climate, but because modern investigation has clearly proven that many diseases, known by other names, are really catarrh. Formerly the name catarrh was applied almost exclusively to the common nasal catarrh, but the throat, stomach, liver, bladder, kidney and intestines are subject to catarrhal diseases as well as the nasal passages.

In fact, wherever there is mucous membrane there is a feeding ground for catarrh.

The usual remedies, inhalers, sprays, douches or powders, have been practically failures, as far as anything more than temporary relief was concerned, because they simply dry up the mucous secretions, without having the remotest effect upon the blood and liver, which are the real sources of catarrhal diseases.

It has been known for some years that the radical cure of catarrh could never come from local applications, but from an internal remedy, acting on the blood and expelling the catarrhal poison from the system.

A new internal preparation which has been on the market only a short time, has met with remarkable success as a genuine, radical cure of catarrh.

It may be found in any drug store, sold under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, large pleasant tasting lozenges, composed principally of antiseptic ingredients, Eucalyptol, Gnaicol, Sanguinaria, Hydrastin and similar catarrh specifics.

Dr. Ainslie in speaking of the new catarrh cure says: "I have tried the new catarrh remedy, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, upon thirty or forty patients with remarkably satisfactory results. They clear the head and throat more effectually and lastingly than any douche or inhaler that I have ever seen, and although they are what is called a patent medicine and sold by druggists, I do not hesitate to recommend them as I know them to be free from cocaine and opiates, and that even a little child may use them with entire safety."

Any sufferer from nasal catarrh, throat or bronchial trouble, catarrh of the stomach, liver or bladder will find Stuart's Catarrh Tablets remarkably effective, pleasant and convenient, and your druggist will tell you they are absolutely free from any injurious drug.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed for ever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

U. S. SENATORS HERE.

Accompanied by Several Prominent Citizens. They Visit the Navy Yard.

United States Senators Jacob H. Gallinger of Concord and Henry E. Burnham of Manchester, were visitors in this city today, arriving here on the forenoon train over the Concord division of the Boston & Maine.

They were accompanied here by Col. R. N. Elwell of Exeter and after visiting the Federal building were joined by Col. A. E. Howard, Col. James H. Wood, and other prominent citizens, after which the party left on the 11 o'clock boat for a visit to the navy yard.

On the arrival of the boat at the navy yard, the party was met by Naval Constructor J. G. Tawse, U. S. N., who accompanied the visitors to Admiral Read's headquarters, where the officers of the station met them.

An inspection of the new dry dock work, the power houses, the improved plants and the ships now at the yard, was made and the various work explained, the distinguished visitors appearing to be very much interested.

On the return of the visitors to this city they went to the Rockingham for dinner.

SCHLEY COMING HOME.

Will Not Wait For the Arrival of Admiral Cromwell.

Possibly the first request made of the navy department by Rear Admiral Schley since his detachment from duty with Admiral Sampson's blockading squadron, has been granted by the navy officials.

Admiral Schley wishes to be relieved of his present duties in command of the South Atlantic station without awaiting the arrival of his successor, and he wishes have been met, and he is authorized to turn over charge of the station to the senior officer and leave for home when he elects.

Admiral Cromwell, who relieves him, sailed from New York, April 3, for Montevideo, by way of Southampton, is not due to reach South America until the middle of May, by which time Admiral Schley will probably have arrived at New York, to which port he is expected to come by the nearest and quickest route.

THE TRADER'S BIG DAY.

The Seasonable Weather Brought Out Trade and Everyone is Happy.

A big day for the traders.

The Saturday business was the largest of any day for the year, is the report of the merchants this afternoon and everybody has been happy. The weather was perfect for the large business and was taken advantage of by those who had shopping to do.

Trade in the local markets and in the shopping parts of the city brightened up on Friday afternoon and the streets and stores were lively after two o'clock in the afternoon. The day was simply a forerunner of what was to follow.

At most of the stores, the Easter trade was not considered closed and there were preparations for what might be expected if decent weather conditions followed the long siege of wet and dullness that have prevailed.

The rain had really kept people penned up in the towns and in the city as well. While the Easter business in its proper season was far less than was anticipated, the increase has more than made up for the slackness.

The streets have been lined with country teams all day and the travel over the electric railroad line into the city have experienced a rush of passengers, who returned home with bundles.

THE COMMON SCHOOLS OF ELIOT.

To the Editor:—From the report of the superintendent of schools in the town of Eliot for the year ending Feb. 15th, 1901, it appears that ten schools have been in operation through the year, (except the spring term when there were but nine), with one teacher for each school, at an expense of $2687.97, making an average of $268.79 for each school, with no prospect under the present system of having any less expense in the future. For a number of years past, all our superintending school committee have recommended fewer schools and larger attendance, and as the location of the free high school plant and the completion of the buildings are in the hands of an efficient committee, would it not be well for the citizens of the town to look after the interest of the common schools? According to the census taken in June 1900, of which the report of 1901 is based, the number of children in town between the ages of four and twenty-one years was three hundred and ninety-six; the whole number registered two hundred and forty-one; leaving one hundred and fifty-five not registered in any school. Would it not be fair and right for our voters and tax payers to take some positive action, and co-operate with our superintending school committee, to accomplish the reform which they have so long and earnestly advocated? And what better way to assist in the work, and ascertain all facts, than for the selectmen to call a meeting of the voters of the town to choose a committee of one or two from each school district to examine carefully and thoroughly all sections of the town, and report any change they might see cause to make, either in the interest of economy, or for larger schools, or longer terms, and to recommend any improvement that would be advantageous in the education of their children. Such a committee, acting in good faith, would insure the confidence of the taxpayers. Our larger schools are our better ones, and a successful school needs more scholars than the average of our six ungraded ones. Three school houses located in the town at the best central points, in place of the old ungraded schools, with one teacher employed in each school, would save the expense of three schools now in operation, making in all seven schools, and the number of scholars could be so adjusted that nearly as average number of scholars would attend each school.

BOLD SNEAK THIEF.

Fred Locke, a Young Man, Robs a Newburyport Man and is Held for Superior Court.

Fred Locke, a young man of 28 years, was held in London by an advertisement offering a reward for the recovery of a document conveying the thanks of the Confederate states to John Lancaster for retreating Capt. Semmes and part of the crew of the Alabama when the Kearsarge sank her off Cherbourg.

The Confederate steamship Alabama, Capt. Raphael Semmes, was attacked and sunk by the U. S. corvette Kearsarge, near Cherbourg, France, June 19, 1864.

The British yacht Deerhound picked up thirty-nine persons, including Semmes and fourteen of his officers, after which she headed for Southampton. Captain Winslow's officers begged him to throw a shell at the Deerhound, but he refused. John Lancaster was probably the commander of the Deerhound.

People Looking for Pure Air, Pure Water and Such Can Find It Here.

The Exeter correspondent of the Manchester Union has the following: The trustees of the School for Feeble Minded Children have announced that they desire for a location a place with plenty of land, good air and drainage, and pure water, and would prefer to build where electric power is obtainable.

"All these requisites," suggests the Exeter Newsletter, "are attainable in or near Exeter or Portsmouth, and the pupils would be near the ocean and less confined to the house by snow drifts here in Rockingham county, than in Lacrosse, which is making a strong effort to secure the school."

Assured by an advertisement for a Relic of the Deerhound.

WILL REMAIN POPULAR

Bicycling is not the social fad it was, and you hear less of centuries and other ridiculous extravaganzas than of old, but there is just as much wheeling as there ever has been. There being less parade and show, it might lead one to suppose that the bicycle had gone out of fashion, but that it can never do, for it has become too widely popular, too necessary as a means of locomotion, of recreation and exercise. Golf may have taken some enthusiasts from the ranks of the wheelers, but their number can be but comparatively few.
